KIBOKO⁴

KIBOKO⁴ boast a sleek GT-inspired exterior with clean, understated geometry.

As a dedicated environment protectionist, her owner has embraced the idea of using an alternative to natural teak for the deck. This yacht features innovative marine maple wood decking sourced from sustainable forests and containing all physical properties that the highly demanding marine environment is requiring.

Designed for both performance and comfort, KIBOKO⁴ features an innovative opening transom that reveals a tender garage with space for a 5m dinghy—ensuring seamless access to hidden coves and secluded beaches. For the ultimate onboard experience, the twin fold transom transforms the aft section into a beach club, offering a luxurious space to relax by the water.

MASTER CABIN

KIBOKO⁴ features a 4-cabin layout: the owner's cabin is located forward in the quietest area of the yacht, while three guest cabins are positioned amidship.

Guest accommodation is centered around the spacious and split level main saloon that features an eight-person dining table to port and an innovative and extended settee along the starboard side that combines the saloon with the TV lounge, creating a large communal living space where the owners can relax and enjoy meals with their friends and family.

In the interior the owner's brief called for a contemporary, functional, marine-inspired, style interior: fresh, warm, and welcoming. This vision is achieved through the use of bright light oak veneer paired with subtle touches of walnut.

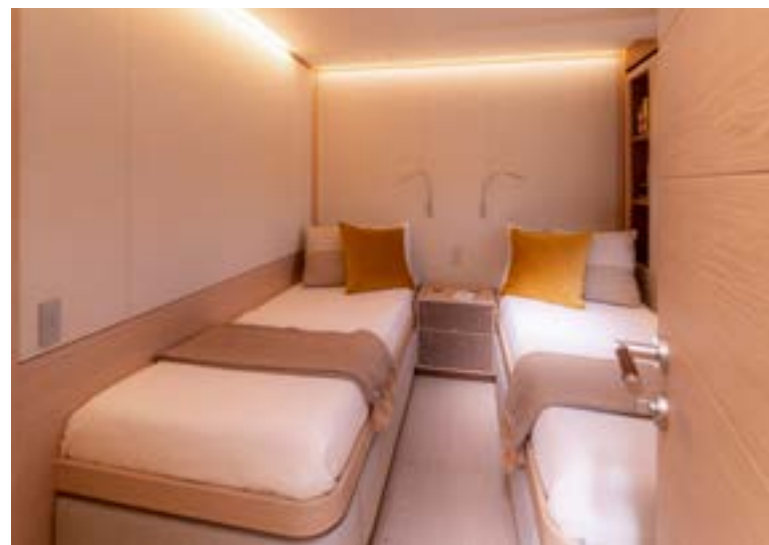

The upholstery throughout the interior is crafted from artisanal, handwoven Mallorcan fabrics, reflecting the owner's desire for a marine and summer atmosphere onboard and their strong connection to tradition.
